CUWCD to hold encumbrance, permit hearings

Clearwater Underground Water Conservation District (CUWCD) will hold an encumbrance hearing and a permit hearing at 1:30 p.m. June 11 at the Clearwater UWCD Board Room, at 640 Kennedy Court, Belton.

The meetings were postponed from May 8 when the board failed to meet a quorum.

CUWCD board may grant an exception if, after notice and hearing, the Applicant provides a properly executed and recorded Encumbrance Agreement, transferring the groundwater rights attributable to the adjacent land of one or more property owner(s) to the Applicant sufficient to attain the minimum tract size necessary to support a Non-exempt Well.

Encumbrance of acreage necessary for 20-acres as it relates to an approved drilling permit requiring tract size necessary for a Lower Trinity well equipped with a maximum 4-inch column pipe, per District Rule 9.5.2.

On Feb. 14, CUWCD approved the drilling permit for Well #2 and Well #1 with a caveat that the applicant must return to the Board on March 13, 2024, with a properly executed groundwater reservation by encumbering the groundwater rights on the two tracts the applicant owns for the purpose of obtaining 20 acres or more for the second drilling permit for well #1.

The proposed wells are for proposed future production of groundwater for a future public water supply entity at a combined annual quantity not to exceed 249.8 acre-feet or 81,397,580 total gallons per year at a maximum pumping rate not to exceed 320 gallons per minute per well from the Lower Trinity Aquifer (Hosston Layer)

No production was issued with this drilling permit application other than that necessary for the purpose of drilling and completing the wells and the prescribed elements of the required Well Completion Reports per District Rule 6.9.2(f)(1-8) for the purpose of a future operating permit.

The proposed wells will serve as a water source for a public water supply to serve an 1,100 acre development known as Mustang Springs at Salado.

The developer is applying for release from the Certificate of Convenience and Necessity (CCN) of the City of Georgetown.

The CUWCD board will also conduct a public hearing for an amendment to an existing permitted well owned by Victory Rock Texas, LLC.

The existing well is completed in the Hensell Layer of the Trinity Aquifer and is geographically in the CUWCD Stillhouse Hollow Management Zone.

The well (#N3-24-003G) is equipped with a 2-inch column pipe with a submersible pump rated at 42 gallons per minute on a contiguous tracts of land totaling 394.18 acre tract located at 7090 Solana Ranch Rd.

Victory Rock Texas, LLC is requesting an operating permit to produce groundwater for a defined beneficial use to provide water for commercial sand and gravel mining operations, to wash the mined material, dust suppression, and to provide water to a concrete batch plant facility known as Five Star, Concrete, LLC on contiguous tracts of land, leased from Byron Goode

This operating permit request is to allow production of groundwater not to exceed 67.75-ac-ft (22,076,405 gallons) per year.

Farmers, ranchers encouraged to report losses

In the wake of last week's severe weather, Bell County farmers and ranchers are being encouraged to report any damage using the Texas Division of Emergency Management (TDEM) iSTAT portal. This critical step will help assess the overall impact of the storm on the local agricultural community and support necessary recovery and relief efforts.

"We have heard from some of our neighbors in the agricultural community that they were not sure how or if they could report some of their damages, and we want to assure them that they absolutely can," Bell County Emergency Management Coordinator Bob Reinhard said.

The iSTAT tool is designed to quickly gather initial damage assessment information in disaster-affected areas. It can help evaluate the extent of damage to homes, business, and agricultural operations.

"Once, they get to the online survey, they will see a question asking if their damages include agricultural losses," Reinhard said. "Once they click 'Yes' in answer to that question, it will take them to some additional questions pertaining to agricultural losses."

Bell County residents in and out of the agricultural industry can access TDEM's iSTAT port by visiting <https://damage.tdem.texas.gov>.

Bell Co. Crisis Cleanup Hotline established

Bell County Emergency Management is encouraging residents impacted by last week's severe weather to call the Crisis Cleanup Hotline at 512-201-4814 to connect with volunteer cleanup services.

"One of the most consistent requests we have gotten by folks impacted by this storm is about getting assistance removing downed trees and debris," Bell County Emergency Management Coordinator Bob Reinhard said. "With this hotline, people can make their needs visible to a myriad of volunteer organizations looking to lend a hand."

Upon connecting with the hotline, callers will outline the location and nature of their unmet need. Operators will add that request to a growing database, where it will be available for volunteers to claim and satisfy.

"We do want to encourage people to be patient with this process," Reinhard said. "The hotline already has hundreds of requests, and these awesome volunteers are working through them."

Survey shows harm from quarries, need for change

Georgetown: The Coalition for Responsible Environmental Aggregate Mining (CREAM) released a detailed report May 27 featuring the results of its public survey on the impact of rock quarries in northwestern Williamson County.

The aggregate industry provides gravel, sand, and stone that helps sustain the rapid growth of Central Texas, and Williamson County has more operations than any other county in Texas.

But some of these have become bad neighbors because the industry has weak regulatory oversight by local and state entities, according to Coalition for Responsible Environmental Aggregate Mining (CREAM) Founder Michael Spanado.

As the first of its kind, the CREAM survey gathers input from almost 200 Georgetown-area residents, illustrating a widespread problem and the desire for change.

"This survey gives a voice to many Williamson County residents who have had their quality of life affected by the quarries and other operations," said CREAM member, report author, and Sun City resident Christina Schwerdtfeger, PhD. "Many of us in the area know the frustrations of living near aggregate operations, so we set out to gauge the level and breadth of this impact. The responses only underscore our continuing concern about how prevalent and significant our shared experiences are. We hope the survey will show our elected officials just how important this issue is to voters, and give all residents hope that there is a path forward together."

The survey was conducted from January to March 2024 and was advertised for several weeks in the Williamson County Sun newspaper, on the Nextdoor platform, on the Facebook groups "The Nature of Sun City" and "My Florence Texas," and on the CREAM Facebook page.

Some of the most important findings include:

- 97% of respondents have personally experienced negative impacts that have damaged their property or degraded their quality of life.
- 90% have felt quarry blasts and 44% have had property damage from blasts.
- 60% have experienced excessive dust on their property.
- 53% have experienced damage to their vehicles from trucks transporting materials from APOs.
- 97% want legislation to curb nuisance issues associated with APOs.
- 98% want the county and/or city to be more proactive.

The report and survey results come after CREAM's community panel event, where Rep. Terry Wilson and three other legal and regulatory experts spoke to about 250 audience members and neighborhood representatives, who also had a chance to voice their concerns. The report includes information on the rapid expansion of the aggregate industry in Williamson County, weak enforcement of existing regulations that has enabled bad actors, the failure of previous legislative efforts, and the popularity of future local and state policies to curb the industry's impact on residents. It ends with a look toward potential efforts that might lead to improvements, such as a Citizens Advisory Council.

"We recognize that aggregate operations are needed to support all of the growth in the Central Texas area, and at the same time we think the playing field should be more even so everyday people aren't suffering so much from bad actors and lack of enforcement," said CREAM Founder Michael Spano, who is also a neighbor of the quarries. "We'd like to see change on several levels – within the Legislature in 2025, within the regulating agencies like the Texas Commission for Environmental Quality, and within our local governmental bodies. We all want to take good care of our homes and our land, and to do this some aggregate operations need to take better care of their neighbors."

"I and many of my neighbors had no idea when we bought our homes that we had moved next to a quarry, and we soon felt blindsided by how the quarry would disrupt our lives," said Dana Martin, a mother and local resident. "Almost daily we are subjected to frequent blasting that cracks our driveway and foundations, loud vibrations that disrupt our peace and ability to home-school and work from home, bad air quality, or driving hazards from trucks carrying uncovered loads over the speed limit. This isn't fair – or safe – for our communities and our kids, and we've had enough. We are ready for the people in charge to pay more attention and make things right."

CREAM is a coalition of community members advocating for Williamson County-area rock quarries and batch plants to be good neighbors to the surrounding communities. The group pushes for the quarries to operate with community concerns in mind: Blast but do not shake homes; transport goods but cover loads so debris doesn't crack windshields; wet the job site but recycle water to save precious Williamson County groundwater; and find a way to operate but reduce air pollution so residents and children can breathe healthy air.

Readers on vouchers, firefighters

To the Editor

Recent letters to the editor have raised issues with the pros and cons of school vouchers, as well as, our Salado Library age-appropriate content. It is concerning to visit the library and see books in the "You Must Be 13 To Use This Section" and next to it "You Must Be 14 To Use This Section."

This past weekend, we commemorated those who gave their lives to protect our God-given right to free speech, and certainly the freedom to choose the books we read. These freedoms also insure the right to govern the books and content for our young and adolescent children. As parents and grandparents we have the responsibility to be involved with what our children are being taught in school and what they can access in public libraries. It is our duty to be involved in their education, socialization, and development. Think back to being thirteen or fourteen-how wise were our choices and opinions then? And who were our influencers. Peer pressure is enormous and the ability to ascertain with wisdom is yet to come. All the more important that parents are involved. Take time to visit your library or access online at saladolibrary.org. Know what your children have access to-and in fact, know the books that are prominently displayed. What one family may find acceptable, another may find unacceptable. Nurture your children with your involvement in what they are being taught and what they are reading. You will never regret the time spent listening, caring what they see, what they read, and what they hear at school and from their peers.

To the Editor:

On April 13, while mowing my yard, I was attacked by a swarm of bees. I somehow made it back to the house and called my wife. My wife and son called the fire department and a group of firemen came out. I was unconscious so they started CPR. After getting my heart beating again, they got me in an ambulance and carried me to Scott & White Hospital. The hospital staff, too, had to work hard to keep me alive, but I am recovering after being in the hospital for three weeks. This morning, I am mowing my yard again. I praise God for our firemen and the hospital staff for keeping me alive. Thank you, thank you, thank you for letting God use you to save my life.

DAVID LEE TEER
AUGUST 13, 1947
MAY 24, 2024

David Lee Teer, 76, passed away on Friday, May 24, 2024 surrounded by family in his home.

He was born on August 13, 1947 in Dallas, TX to Patsy Townsend and Robert Teer. Raised in Dallas, he enjoyed outdoor adventures with his grandfather and participated in rifle marksmanship in school. He graduated from Woodrow Wilson High School in 1965 and earned his bachelor's degree in Advertising Art from North Texas State University in 1969.

After college he served in the Army, entering the service in 1969. During the Vietnam War he worked on the military newspaper, Stars & Stripes. After his honorable discharge in 1972, he returned to Dallas and worked as a graphic designer.

In 1973, a video dating service introduced him to Linda Missick. After just six weeks the pair were engaged, and four months later they were married on April 20, 1974. They bought their first home in Garland, TX and began a lifelong journey as DIYers; rebuilding kitchens, replacing roofs, and updating bathrooms to Dave's high standards of craftsmanship.

1976 saw Dave switch full-time to photography, opening the Dave Teer Photography studio in Dallas. He continued to work in photography for several years and taught classes at Southern Methodist University.

While living in Garland, TX, he and Linda welcomed a boy named Nicholas to the family in 1979, followed by a girl named Paige in 1982, and a surprise named Jon in 1983.

In 1989 Dave and family moved to Salado, TX. He and Linda became active members of First Baptist Church of Salado, where Dave served as a deacon. He also ran sound for services, and together he and Linda contributed to numerous live nativities and cooked in the kitchen.

He retired in 2014 and spent the following years woodworking and acting as 'Grand Poobah' to a host of grandchildren (and welcoming blissful silence when they returned home to their parents).

He is preceded in death by his parents. He is survived by his wife of 50 years, Linda, their three children, Nic, Paige, and Jon, and their spouses; as well as ten grandchildren. He is also survived by his sister, Elizabeth Gilmer, and numerous cousins, nieces, and nephews.

He was a wonderful partner, proud and caring family patron, and a dedicated friend and servant of the church. His distinct playfulness and occasionally deranged sense of humor will be remembered warmly.

His passing leaves a void in our lives, but memories of his love, kindness, and mischief will fill the space in time. A testament to a life well and fully lived.

A visitation will be held at 10 a.m. on Thursday, May 30 at First Baptist Church of Salado, with a memorial service to follow at 11 a.m.

Dos and don'ts after a disaster

The desire of everyday citizens to lend a hand to their neighbors in the wake of last week's tornado has been heartwarming.

However, there are some general rules about how to lend a hand without creating a problem.

Emergencies

DO report any emergency to 9-1-1. This might include any threat to life, including downed power lines, fires, etc.

DO NOT call 9-1-1 to check the status of utilities, roads, or phone service. Operators are focused on preserving lives, and calls like this may prevent more urgent calls from being answered in a timely manner.

Volunteering

DO NOT self-deploy to a disaster or area of damage. Following a disaster, first responders and emergency crews should be able to get to areas of need quickly and safely. Well-meaning citizens, looking to help, can unintentionally add to increased traffic and blocked roadways, creating costly delays at critical moments.

INSTEAD, citizens interested in volunteering should consider joining an existing volunteer group associated with Texas Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster (VOAD) by visiting <https://www.txvoad.org>.

Donations

DO NOT donate items without a specific request from a recognized organization. In the wake of disaster events, organizations are often overwhelmed with unrequested donations. In fact, on some occasions, managing those donations has created crises unto themselves, with relief agencies suddenly forced to develop infrastructures around securing and distributing items for which they did not ask.

INSTEAD, look for requests from Emergency Management agencies and other recognized organizations. For example, following the May 22, tornado that struck Bell County, officials have invited citizens to make financial contributions through the United Way of Central Texas by visiting uwct.org and clicking on the Tornado Relief button.

Information

DO NOT share unverified information directly or on social media. Emergency Management officials work to make information available as early as it can be verified.

While officials appreciate the help of citizens to share verified information with their friends, the sharing of unverified information can lead to confusion and frustration.

Make Music Day June 21

Salado's Music Friendly Community Board celebrates the Global Make Music Day and is asking the Village to join in this free family friendly event.

Make Music Day is a global one-day event that is inspired by France's Fête de la Musique. The event encourages people from all over the world to take part in making music together on the same day every year. Salado, for the first time ever, is now part of this global music celebration along with 31 countries and 39 states! The Salado Music Friendly Community Advisory Board has joined the Make Music Alliance and members of The National Association of Music Merchants (NAMM) to celebrate this global event.

The Music Friendly Community Advisory Board is inviting everyone from professional musicians to people who have never picked up an instrument, young or old, to take part in a free event called the Village Bucket Beats Drum Circle at the Salado Civic Center Gazebo on 6:15-7:15 p.m. June 21. No musical talent is necessary! This event will be led by Village of Salado Mayor Bert Henry, who is a professional drummer. He has played drums for various mainstream bands in live shows and studio recordings. Together, the Village can create the largest drum circle ever to be held on a historic site. Arrive early to borrow drumsticks the Music Friendly Community Advisory Board is providing for you to use. Bring a 5-gallon bucket, box, cooking pot, whatever you can dream up to bang on. The venues throughout Salado will also have other music events going on so visit their websites and social media platforms.

The purpose of the Salado's Music Friendly Community Advisory Board is to promote music by connecting and supporting musicians, songwriters, venues, and vendors while advising the Village of Salado on strategies and address opportunities, goals, and challenges in the local music industry. The board creates music events throughout the village to help support the economic development of our town and increase tourism. The Salado Music Friendly Board is part of the Texas Music Office that Governor Greg Abbott created in 1990. The program fosters music industry development and sends a clear message that certified communities, such as Salado, are serious about attracting tourism and developing the growth of the music industry. Music has been shown to strengthen social connectivity, reduce stress, lower blood pressure, stimulate memory, and is integral to a well-rounded enjoyable life.

For more information about the event, please visit <https://www.makemusicday.org/salado/>

If you have questions, email the Chairman of the Salado Music Friendly Community Advisory Richard Paul Thomas at rpt@tbc-group.com, or the event host Kathryn Meloy at loveheartrockranch.com
